

Jinock Lee

Jinock Lee is a doctoral researcher in the department of Politics and International Studies at the University of Warwick. Her research interests are to examine how gender is constituted of economic restructuring in relation to trade unions and the state, bringing the case of South Korea after the financial crisis of the late 1990s.